LifeStage Investment Management

Customized Fund Allocation

LifeStage Investment Management allocates your contributions and the contributions made on your behalf to your retirement accounts among Wespath's investment funds.

LifeStage Investment Management is one option for managing your Wespath-administered defined contribution retirement account(s). However, Ministerial Pension Plan (MPP) balances and Compass Retirement Plan (Compass) Directed Balances (i.e., UMC contributions to Compass) for clergy are required to be managed by LifeStage Investment Management.

"Target fund allocation" refers to the proportions and mix of the investment funds that comprise your Wespath account balance(s). The target fund allocation, or investment mix, represents your individual investment portfolio and is based on:

- Your age
- The assets in your Wespath-administered retirement accounts
- Your answers to questions used to determine your LifeStage Personal Investment Profile (including risk tolerance and Social Security eligibility)
- Other factors unique to each individual participant

After determining your target fund allocation, LifeStage Investment Management manages your account automatically for you. As your age and circumstances change, LifeStage Investment Management adjusts your fund allocations accordingly. Differences in market returns may cause your individual investment fund allocations to fall outside a specified range compared to your target fund allocation. LifeStage Investment Management compares your actual fund allocations to your target fund allocations quarterly and makes changes when needed to align actual allocations with the target. During aberrant market conditions, Wespath may temporarily elect to suspend rebalancing back to the target allocation.

A Proven Investment Strategy Sets an Appropriate Level of Risk/Return for Your Portfolio

LifeStage Investment Management applies the principle of diversification, a proven investment strategy used by professional investors and financial planners. Diversification means spreading your account dollars among different types of U.S. and international investments, such as stocks, bonds, real estate, commodities, positive social purpose loans, private equity and inflation protection securities, rather than investing your balances in only one fund or even in one type of investment.

Ministerial Pension Plan Account Management

The Ministerial Pension Plan (MPP) provides clergy with pension benefits for their years of service to The United Methodist Church from 1982 through 2006.*

As required by the plan, LifeStage Investment Management manages MPP accounts separately from other Wespath-administered defined contribution accounts.

As a clergyperson approaches the age at which he or she will begin receiving monthly benefits from MPP, LifeStage Investment Management reduces the percentage of equity holdings (stocks) in the individual's MPP account more rapidly than it does for other accounts.

\ MPP was replaced by CRSP effective January 1, 2007. Clergy who have an MPP account continue to incur investment gains or losses on MPP account balances until benefits are paid from the plan.*

LifeStage Investment Management

“Diversification” means spreading your account dollars among different types of investments.

LifeStage Investment Management Selects Funds for You

Using Wespath’s investment funds and key information about you, LifeStage Investment Management develops your customized target fund allocation. You are not required to provide any data or take any action. However, you have the option through LifeStage Investment Management to develop a Personal Investment Profile to fine-tune the target fund allocation created for you. To do so, you will need to answer the following questions if you have an MPP or Compass Directed Balance account, when you elect LifeStage Investment Management to manage your other defined contribution accounts or at any later date. (See page 9 “Electing LifeStage Investment Management” for more details.)

1. What Is Your Risk Tolerance?

Investing involves risk. On one hand, if you invest too aggressively, you increase the risk of losing value in your investments because of market fluctuation.

On the other hand, if you invest too conservatively, you may risk the opportunity to accumulate gains that could have been earned from investments with higher growth potential—gains that are important for maintaining the standard of living that you had before retirement. Also, you need to protect against the risk of inflation eroding the value of your hard-earned savings, and some conservative investments do not fully protect against inflation.

The following risk descriptions are merely a guide. We recommend that you seek the advice of a professional financial planner, such as those provided through EY Financial Planning Services (see page 10), to determine your risk tolerance.

Your risk tolerance might be Conservative if you:	Your risk tolerance might be Moderate if you:	Your risk tolerance might be Aggressive if you:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are willing to accept the potential for below-average investment performance in an effort to avoid higher investment risk,</li> <li>• Are likely to sell investments in volatile markets with rapidly fluctuating market performance, and</li> <li>• Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance within seven or fewer years</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are willing to accept the potential for average investment performance with average investment risk,</li> <li>• Are willing to tolerate some modest fluctuating market performance, and</li> <li>• Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance within eight to 15 years</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are willing to accept the potential for above-average investment performance with above-average risk,</li> <li>• Are unlikely to sell investments in volatile markets with rapidly fluctuating market performance, and</li> <li>• Are expecting to exhaust all or most of your account balance in 15 years or more</li> </ul>

2. Would You Like to Invest in the Standard Funds or Social Values Choice Funds?

LifeStage Investment Management offers a choice of two investing options:

- Standard Funds (default option), which are a mix of passively and actively managed funds that provide the broadest exposure to equity and bond investments, or
- Social Values Choice Funds, a passively managed equity fund and mix of bond funds. These funds invest with a focus on the environment and human rights with specific exclusions for fossil fuels and certain investments associated with conflict-affected areas.

3. How Do Social Security Benefits Impact LifeStage Investment Management?

Most participants have paid Social Security taxes and meet the qualifications (including at least 10 years in non-government work) to receive a Social Security benefit.* Your potential Social Security benefit is considered a source of retirement income by LifeStage Investment Management and factors into your target investment mix. The service assumes that the current value of your future Social Security benefit is similar to holding fixed income instruments. As a result, a higher percentage of your defined contribution account is invested in equities.

4. If You Have a Ministerial Pension Plan (MPP) Account, What Is Your Expected Benefits Commencement Date—the Date on Which You Anticipate Starting Your MPP Retirement Benefits?

This variable applies only to UMC clergy participants in MPP. Retirement age and the date you start receiving benefits aren't always the same. You may retire before or after age 65 and may choose to defer the start of your retirement benefits until a later date. The later you begin receiving benefits, the longer your investments will have an opportunity to grow.

The date on which you expect to begin receiving MPP benefits will influence how LifeStage Investment Management invests your MPP balance.

5. What Is Your Intention for the 35% Portion of MPP?

This variable applies only to UMC clergy participants in MPP. MPP requires that you either convert 65% of your account balance to a lifetime monthly benefit payment (an "annuity") OR include the 65% of your account balance in LifeStage Retirement Income. You have options for the remaining (35%) account balance; you may keep it invested in MPP, roll it over to PIP/Compass or withdraw it from MPP.

Your decision about whether you plan to continue to invest the remaining balance or withdraw it at retirement affects how LifeStage Investment Management invests your MPP balance.

LifeStage Investment Management Allocates Your Account Balance Based on Your Personal Investment Profile

LifeStage Investment Management uses the answers to these questions and other information about you—including your actual or assumed compensation and assets you may have in your Wespath-administered retirement accounts—to determine a target fund allocation for you. If you do not answer questions in the Personal Investment Profile, LifeStage Investment Management uses a preselected profile that is appropriate for most participants: Standard Funds, moderate risk tolerance, benefits to begin at the Social Security Full Retirement Age (as defined by the Social Security Administration) based on year of birth, participation in Social Security and investment of the MPP 35% portion throughout retirement (if applicable).

Whether you set your own variables through the Personal Investment Profile or rely on our preselected profile, there is nothing more for you to do. LifeStage Investment Management will manage the investment of your applicable account balance(s). You may review your LifeStage Personal Investment Profile periodically and update it when appropriate.

* Some clergy do not participate in Social Security and will not receive Social Security benefits when they retire.

Is LifeStage Investment Management Right for You?

LifeStage Investment Management is a great way for many participants to invest their defined contribution accounts effortlessly and sensibly, but it may not be appropriate for everyone. Your defined contribution accounts might not benefit from LifeStage Investment Management if you:

- Entered the work force relatively late in life,
- Have an illness that could shorten your life expectancy,
- Have some Social Security coverage but elected not to participate in Social Security as a clergyperson, or
- Intend to use your defined contribution account balances for a purpose other than lifetime income.

Other situations could also affect whether LifeStage Investment Management is right for you. EY financial planners are available at no additional cost* to help you determine if LifeStage Investment Management is appropriate for the defined contribution accounts that you can choose how to manage (see page 10).

Multiple Asset Fund (MAF)

Type of Fund

Diversified multiple-asset-class “fund of funds.”

Objective

To attain current income and capital appreciation by investing in a broad mix of investments.

Who Should Invest

Investors with relatively long time horizons who seek long-term investment growth and income from exposure to a broadly diversified portfolio of assets. Investors should be willing to experience some fluctuations in the value of the fund, though generally not as much as from holding a fund composed exclusively of common stocks.

Investments

Primarily a prespecified mix of units of our funds: 10% IPF, 25% FIF, 35% USEF and 30% IEF.

Management/Subadvisors

Wespath engages external subadvisors to manage the investments of the funds. ## Strategy

The prespecified allocation of the underlying funds closely adheres to the long-term strategic asset allocation established by our Board of Directors. Market fluctuations may cause the actual MAF asset allocation to not conform to the prespecified mix. We periodically rebalance MAF to plus or minus 3% of the prespecified percentage allocation if the allocation falls outside the targets.

IPF holdings will be rebalanced if the fund’s percentage allocation falls outside of a range of 8-12% of MAF; FIF holdings will be rebalanced if the fund’s percentage allocation falls outside of a range of 23-27% of MAF; USEF holdings will be rebalanced if the fund’s percentage allocation falls outside of a range of 32-38% of MAF; and IEF holdings will be rebalanced if the fund’s percentage allocation falls of a range of 27-33% of MAF. In addition, the total equity holdings in MAF (U.S. Equity Fund and International Equity Fund holdings combined) have a target range of 62–68%. The total fixed income holdings in MAF (Fixed Income Fund and Inflation Protection Fund holdings combined) have a target range of 32–38%. We will rebalance MAF if the percentage allocation for equity or fixed income holdings falls outside those target ranges. During aberrant market conditions, we may temporarily elect to suspend rebalancing back to the prespecified mix. We will resume rebalancing once market conditions have improved.

The underlying funds employ a combination of active and passive (index) strategies. Generally, MAF will have significant passive index exposure to large company U.S. stocks and will use active management in less efficient markets.

Performance Benchmark

The fund uses a blended benchmark to measure its performance. The benchmark includes the following:

- 10% Custom Inflation Protection Fund Benchmark
- 25% Bloomberg U.S. Universal Index, ex Mortgage-Backed Securities
- 35% Russell 3000 Index
- 30% MSCI All Country World Index, ex-USA Investable Market Index

Annual Fund Operating Expenses

Expenses of MAF are incurred primarily by the funds in which MAF invests. All these funds are offered by Wespath. Therefore, MAF, as a shareholder of such funds, bears its pro rata share of the expenses of the funds. MAF may also incur expenses from alternate investment strategies. All expenses incurred by MAF are reflected in the unit price calculated for the fund. The unit price is multiplied by the number of units held in each investor’s account to determine the total value of the investor’s holdings in the fund. MAF’s expenses in 2024 were equal to 0.60% of the fund’s total assets.
